O'DANIEL DECISION ON GALLOGLY FATE EXPECTED TODAY

Extradition Hearing Ends After Bitterly Contested Legal Battle; Fugitive Sent Back to Dallas Jail.

By FRANK DRAKE, Constitution Staff Writer.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 17.-Whether Richard Gray Gallogly goes back to Georgia to finish out his life sentence for farmer rested in the hands of Governor (Please Pass the Biscuits, Pappy) W. Lee O'Daniel

The extradition hearing ended abruptly at 5:45 o'clock this ments from Attorney General Ellis Arnall and Walter LeCraw, assistant Fulton solicitor general, or from state Senator Jesse Martin and Harold Young, attorneys for the Georgia escaped convict.

Governor O'Daniel said he thought he "had a clear picture" of the case after two full days of presenting evidence and announced he probably will have his decision ready by noon tomor-

"I think I have all the information I need and I will have the noon, I think," he said.

He added his decision will be handed out from his office in a statement without calling the law-

Arnall and LeCraw spent most of this afternoon seeking to establish by records and affidavits that Gallogly was equally guilty of the murders of Willard Smith and because the defense had contended since Monday morning that Gallogly was not present at the scene of the crimes, Family Pleads.

Mrs. Gallogly, smartly dressed in black, added a last word of entreaty this afternoon when the hearing ended by again asking the Governor to deny extradition for her husband.

Mrs. Yankey, Mrs. Gallogly and the prisoner all shook hands with the chief executive and thanked him for his courtesy in listening to all the details of the Gallogly case stretching over a period of 11 years.

Mrs. Gallogly was not put on the stand as the defense lawyers originally planned. She, too, is wanted in Georgia on two charges, Constitution Won't Allow It, Arnall Declares in Texas.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 17 .- (AP)-"I have instructed Major Walter Attorney General Ellis Arnall, of Georgia, declined tonight to expand his cryptic statement of earlier today that former Governor Eugene Talmadge and Goverhim in Austin yesterday. Publicanor Rivers could not run against each other next year for the chief today was the first I ever had executive's post.

Arnall, who is here asking the return of Richard Gallogly to Georgia, was asked at the extradition today by State Senator Jesse Martin, of Fort Worth, the fugitive's attorney: "I understand Governor Talmadge is going to run against Gov-ernor Rivers."

Replies, "No." "No." asserted Arnall.

"It is common talk over there, isn't it?" Martin asked. "No, under our constitution it can't be done," the Georgian re-

Recently friends of the Rivers administration had discussed possibility that a portion of the Georgia constitution delegating executive power to the Governor "until his successor shall be chosen and qualified" might permit Rivers to make a third fight in behalf of his "Little New Deal."

The proposal, as outlined by close political friends of the incumbent executive, said they believed if Rivers succeeded in winning nomination, technicalities of the constitution would keep him in office until 1942.

They suggested the constitu-tional restriction against a twoterm governor serving a third successive time would prevent Rivers being proclaimed governor by the general assembly when it canvasses the vote in January, 1941. Friends' Argument.

They argued, however, the courts have held that where high man in an election is ineligible to take office the entire election is void and a new vote would be necessary. They point out the con-stitution provides gubernatorial elections "shall take place biennially" which would prevent such a new election for two years.

Rivers supporters said the idea of a third term would have two-fold result. First, it would prevent disintegration of the present administration political machinenow without prospect of continued patronage. Secondly, it would permit Rivers to carry his fight against legislators whom he considers "responsible for financial crippling" of his program.

Rivers adherents have put forth the proposal of a third term in the past, contending wording of the constitution was ambiguous as to restrictions against more than two successive terms, but legal experts have discounted this as unlikely to stand court test.

WIDOW OF HAIG DIES AT 60 IN NORTH WALES

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(P)—Count-ess Haig, widow of Field Marshal Earl Haig, died at Glyn Bangor, North Wales, yesterday at the age of 60. She was the daughter of the late Lord Vivian. The late King Edward VII considered Haig his best general and exacted a promise from Lady Haig at her marriage in 1905 not to interfere with the marshal's military career. Her pride in her husband's achievement as British field marshal in the World War led her to defend him from attacks made on him following his death.

FULTON EXPECTED TO TURN HEAT ON SLOW TAXPAYERS

Commission Scheduled, at Meeting Today, To Order Intensified Drive for $800,000 Back Taxes.

Fulton county commissioners this afternoon are scheduled to set machinery in motion to turn the heat on delinquent taxpayers to collect about $800,000 in back

At a special called session beginning at 2 o'clock, it is anticipated that the commission will direct taxing authorities to spur collections for the remainder of the year in order that operation of the compulsory budget law next year will not force drastic curtailment of county services and entail a probable reduction in county salary schedules.

James L. Respess, of Respess & Respess, county auditors, have warned the commission that Fulton revenues will be slashed be tween $800,000 and $900,000 next year because of a budgetary limitation that the county can anticipate only 90 per cent of the actual cash collections and must provide funds to retire 25 per cent of the county deficit.

Captain Wesley Moran, of the Governor's horse guard, also will appear before the commission, heading a delegation to discuss a plan for using the old negro con-vict camp as stables. The camp is near the North Fulton park.

Merely Cover for Plans. "Yet even so the advice of his soldiers was probably merely cov-er for the prosecution of Hitler's own plans. His impatience precipitate action on that last day of August can scarcely have been other than premeditated.

"The Russian pact appeared to give him the advantage which he was seeking and thereafter there was no time to lose if mud were not to be added to Poland's allies.

Henderson traced the sources of the present conflict back to the purge of German army leaders in February, 1938, but indicated that the immediate source was the Polish note to Berlin in August saying that any further Ger-man intervention in Danzig to the detriment of Poland would be considered an of aggression," the United Press said.

"I have little doubt but that the latter phrase served more than anything else to duce that final brainstorm in Herr Hitler's mind," Hen-derson wrote, "on which the peace of the world depended and upon which it always must have depended so long as the fate, not only of Ger-many but also of Europe, rested in the hands of a single irresponsible individual.

Celebrating the ancient rivalry of the Vanderbilt Commodores and the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets, members of the Vanderbilt Alumni Association of Atlanta will gather Friday night at the Henry Grady hotel for their annual meeting and election of officers, prior to the football game, Saturday, at Grant Field.

Visitors from Tennessee will swell the banquet throng which is to meet in the Dixie ballroom at 6:30.

Governor Prentice Cooper, of Tennessee, an alumnus of Van-derbilt, will be in Atlanta to attend the Southern Governors' con-ference and invitations have been extended to the other state leaders to join the merry-making with the Atlanta association.

Cheer leaders and band members from Vanderbilt will be on hand to furnish entertainment and add to the "rally" spirit, according to an announcement from Robert P. McLarty, president of the

Atlantan Accuses Carbonic Firms of Anti-Trust Act

Scruggs alleges he is southern distributor for a soda fountain convertor for transforming dry ice into carbonic acid gas for use in carbonating soft drinks, and charges the defendants with retraining trade because he claims they refused to sell dry ice to his prospective customers.

The petition further sets out that Scruggs demonstrated the efficiency of his convertor to num-erous bottlers in Georgia and Florida and that they inquired as to the availability of "dry ice," but that later they were unable to obtain the product at a reasonable

COGDELL SEEKING FARM MARKET AID deliberations would be dominated

In Capital To Back Bailey Bill Providing $75,000 Annually for Georgia.

Alton Cogdell, director of the bureau of markets, is in Washington today with commissioners of agriculture from southern states seeking congressional approval of a bill providing funds for improving marketing conditions for farm produce. Under the plan, Georgia would receive approximately $75,- 000 annually. The Agriculture Department representatives say the money provided under the proposed Bai-ley marketing bill, which is now before the agricultural committee of the house of representatives, would give states money to use in improving marketing facilities.

Cogdell pointed out that the federal government was spending large sums teaching farmers how to plant and grow produce but nothing was at present being done to teach them how to market what they produce. Better prepared products will bring better prices on the open market, he declared.

"They say you can't teach a farmer how to grade his products," Cogdell said, "but when he buys them he always picks out the No. 1."
The Bailey bill, sponsored by Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, passed the senate last session. Commissioners Scott, of North Carolina; Wilson, of Louisiana, and Mayo, of Florida, also will attend the conference.

The Community Fund

The annual campaign for the Community Fund is now in its preliminary stages. Workers are being taught the methods of solicitation to follow and leaders of different worker-groups are instilling into their cohorts that enthusiasm essential to success in any undertaking of this

It should not be difficult to arouse enthusiasm for such a cause. The story of the Community Fund has been told so many times it is unnecessary to enter into detailed explanation here. The benefits and advantages for a community are so familiar, so obvious, there is no longer room for argument as to the desirability of success in raising the money

The Community Fund is a form of local insurance that pays tremendous dividends. By its preventative work in social activities, it insures against much poverty, extensive delinquency and increasing crime. True it does not altogether prevent these evils, no plan yet devised by man can do that. Results of any such effort can be but partially successful. While humanity remains humanity of this time and age, there will be some who are incorrigible, who will continue to form the population of our prisons, our correctional institutions and to be the beneficiaries of our charity.

However, no man can estimate how much human delinquency or human suffering has been forestalled through the activities of the agencies supported by the Community Fund. All necessary to know is what the imagination paints of conditions as they would be were there no such agencies at work.

The Community Fund is not charity. It is ligent preventative work which lessens the need for charity in later years.

The success of a Community Fund campaign is not measured alone by the total sum of gifts. It depends for its success, too, upon the number of givers. A fund gathered from many $10 givers is of far greater benefit to the community than the same amount contributed by a mere handful of the wealthy.

For the value of the fund is at least as great to the givers as to the recipients. It teaches community responsibility, awakens realization of the individual's stake in his home town and increases the self-respect of every man or woman who gives.

It is centuries since Shakespeare wrote his immortal tribute to the quality of mercy, "it blesseth him that gives and him that takes." Yet, in all the intervening years there has never been an organized social movement that so truly demonstrated the truth of that ancient axiom.

The under-privileged who benefits through the expenditure of the fund may give thanks for it throughout the year, but deeper thanks should be given by all those who contribute, for the opportunity it brings to them to make Atlanta and her environs a better place in which to live.

It is devoutly to be hoped that the Community Fund this year will reach, and surpass, the sum sought, $541,403. It is, however, more devoutly to be hoped that not one resident, able to give as much as a dollar, will miss the chance to become, by this means, a better citizen and a truer Atlantan.

No Sleepy Sheep

A high mortality rate for illusions characerizes the present era. The latest legend to fall under the guns of modern science concerns insomnia. Counting imaginary sheep, it seems, is of no help at all in inducing slumber. On the contrary, says Dr. Louis J. Karnosh, of Cleveland, Ohio, in the current issue of the fournal of the American Medical Association, the practice tends to keep one awake, instead of bringing about the desired somnolence.

According to Dr. Karnosh, persons who try to induce sleep by counting sheep, or even trying to read themselves to sleep, are in a bad way psychologically. In the language of the cian, they are "simply resorting to tricks or the repression of unpleasant ideas."

The good doctor offers advice, however. Says ie: "The person with insomnia should be told ise down, to let his muscles relax if he can, to let his thoughts wander where they will and to avoid the exercise of any sort of concentra-

While the doctor's words are sound medicine. at the same time it is rather distressing to learn that the old, old game of counting imaginary sheep no longer is good practice. It was a great legend-while it lasted.

School Savings Banks

The operation of student savings banks in public schools has reached such dimension that, for the year ending June 30, 1939, deposits totaled more than $12,000,000, while net savings for the year were $3,246,840.17. The deposits were made by 2,543,472 pupils in 8,448 schools in 38 states and the District of Columbia.

The data given here is taken from the annual report of the savings division of the American Bankers Association.

Some interesting angles on the problems of school savings banks are revealed. In the first place the total savings fluctuate widely, year by year. This is attributed to the sensitivity of these accounts to economic conditions. In times when family incomes are low, or dropping, the school savings account is one of the first resources tapped.

Again, there is an illuminative hint on human nature by the disclosure that the steadiest savers and those who acquire the largest individual deposits are the students who work for the money they place to their accounts in the bank. Those who receive a weekly allowance from their parents, or who depend upon their parents or guardians for spending money as well as essential expenses, do not value money so highly nor appreciate the importance of laying aside a nest egg for the future.

The boy or girl who has to work for pocket money early learns the importance of thrift and, in school days, evidences a knowledge of the value of savings that indicates the probability of success in later life.

The report shows that Georgia, as a whole, lags far behind most other states in so far as school savings go.

The Atlanta school system, with 52 schools participating, is the only city appearing on either grade school or high school honor roll.

Atlanta is on both. Brunswick, including Arco, St. Simon's Island and Sterling, has 11 schools in its savings system. Decatur, with seven schools, is also listed but the data is noted as secured from unofficial sources. Yet, despite this small participation in Georgia, this state shows, for the last fiscal year, 70 schools participating, with total deposits of $94,202.32 and net savings of $4,404.01.

It is interesting, also, to note that the net savings per depositor in Atlanta is given as only 7 cents, while in the Brunswick schools it is $1.49.

For Sane Thinking

The Young Men's Christian Association recently marked its 95th birthday and the 50th anniversary of its program of world service in North America. In the Y. M. C. A. the world has seen the growth of an organization that has had a marked influence for good in many facets of human relations.

It is interesting to note that when the "Y" celebrated its anniversaries, it announced a new and important program of study, aimed at stimulating sober thinking. In forums and group meetings the Y. M. C. A. seeks to promote sane discussion of such subjects as the background of the present European conflict; the policy of the United States in regard to the European war; the role of Christian groups in the conflict; propaganda and how to recognize it.

Thus the Y. M. C. A. celebrates its birthday by giving new strength to its far-reaching and constructive program. Knowing the organization may be called upon to assist in war relief work, it seeks now to promote sane thinking through education and discussion.

SCANDINAVIA RALLIES.

(From the Boston Herald.) The call of the American ambassador at the Kremlin to express his government's and his people's deep concern over the prospect of trouble between Russia and Finland was, let us be frank, a gesture. Despite our great admiration for the Finnish people, our appreciation of their honesty and industry, and our earnest desire that they be allowed to remain a free and independent people, we can give them little material aid in their peril. All Mr. Steinhardt took to the Kremlin was the vague pressure of American ence with Germany and Japan, is not as influen-we once thought it was. But later on Tuesday the ministers of Sweden. rway and Denmark also called on Commissar Molotoff and expressed their similar anxiety regarding Finland's fate, and yesterday King Gustav of Sweden announced that he had invited the President of Finland and the Kings of Norway and Denmark to confer with him at Stockholm next Wednesday. This demonstration of Scandinavia's solidarity is certain to make an impro foscow, because, from all accounts, Stalin, like Hitler, does not want a big war, he wants merely to snatch one little country at a time. Although the eventual outcome of a war between Russia and united Scandinavia might be favorable to him, would be hazardous and expensive. So the Kremlin will doubtless hesitate. How the diplomatic struggle in the Baltic How the diplomatic struggle in the Baltic links up with the military conflict in central Europe is not yet clear. If, as Germany likes to suggest, Russia is her ally, Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark must be her enemies. That cannot be a development which Hitler welcomes. It becomes all the more apparent that Stalin is proceeding without Hitler's consent, whose position, vis-a-vis Britain and France, becomes all the more desperate.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

BLOCKING RADIO DEMAGOGS WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. The new code of the National Association of Broadcasters was a really big domestic event. It will ultimately bar Father Charles E. Coughlin from the air. It has already prevented the Townsendites from putting on a tremendous, long-planned radio program for their pension plan. It forecloses the possibility of other types of radio demagoguery. Yet it has received almost no attention,

In essence, the radio business has remembered that its wavelengths, like the franchises of the power business, are public utilities. Knowing that public utilities and private propaganda should not be mixed, the radio men have agreed among themselves to no more time for propaganda purposes. Thinking people have long been deeply disturbed by the easy access to the intellectually submerged tenth which the radio gave to men with smooth tongues and small consciences. By the simplest gesture of self-regulation, the radio business has met the situation and solved it.

STORY OF COUGHLIN Undoubtedly the National Association of Broadcasters was chiefly provoked to action by the problem of Father Coughlin. Despite his fervid denials of any wrong intention, his recent broadcasts have been strongly tinged with race prejudice. Furthermore, they openly promote his so-called social justice movement, whose magazine of the same name is an unashamed organ of race hate. Something had done about the radio priest. Preventing the spread of race hatred over radio wave-lengths which are the legal property of the whole people was no infringement of free speech. Yet, knowing the clamorousness of the Coughlinite groups, the radio business had to present a united front in the matter.

The N. A. B. was a convenient instrument of the united front. It is an organization including all important radio stations, patterned after the baseball clubs' and the movies' self-regulatory bodies. (It has, however, no Judge Landis and is beautified by the resence of no Will Hays.) A few days ago, the N. A. B. met in full session in Washington and promulgated the new code, which had previously been considered with the utmost care by all the best minds in the business

The code's pertinent section is one making it an offense for any station to sell time on the air "for the presentation of controversial issues." This, of course, in no way interferes with the stations' and broadcasting companies' healthy practice of giving free time, in fairly equal amounts, to speakers on both sides of every great public argument. In fact, the N. A. B. code specifically pledges the continuation of this practice. Nor does it interfere with the selling of time to the regular political parties during campaigns. All that is outlawed is the buying of hook-ups by private persons with some theory, brand of economic snake-oil, private grudge or home-brewed salvationism which they wish to vent on the innocent public.

The American Civil Liberties Union, a vigilant guardian of free speech, has already warmly indorsed the new code. So have the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and many similar organizations.

ON PRESSURE GROUPS The code will be bitterly attacked, of course, both by the Coughlinites and the legions of Dr. Francis E. Townsend. Its provisions have already been held to include broadcasts of Coughlin's present type. He has a few months of grace, for existing broadcasting contracts are not to be disturbed. But, in the end, unless the N. A. B. lets itself be intimidated, he will either have to change his style of talk entirely or stop talking on the air. As for the Townsendites, they have just been frustrated in an attempt to buy a national hook-up for their proposed radio campaign.

The plans for this campaign give you an idea of the sort of thing that the code is intended to prevent. As everyone knows, hundreds of thousands of puzzled and unfortunate people in America have been fooled by the miraculous economics of Townsendism. In California, where the radio has been used to push the similar "hamand-eggs" pension plan, the puzzled people have become a real political menace. It was the Townsendite intention to make them a menace on a national scale, using Senator Sheridan Downey, of California, as the silver tongue of pensions. Townsend, Downey and the others were licking their chops in anticipation of forming a really staggering pressure group. Naturally, they are furious that they

No wise person will join them in their regrets, however. Such pressure groups as the Coughlins and Downeys form are never representative. Yet resisting them calls for difficult shows of courage by politicians. It is better to prevent their formation.

They might have been holdup men, foreign spies or even fugitives from ustice, for all anyone could tell to the contrary. The evidence of shoes and trouser leg bottoms indicated they were masculine.

The first two were standing on the southeast corner of Whitehall and Decatur streets. There was another at Peachtree and Edgevood. Others at Peachtree and Auburn and Peachtree and Houson. Lack of energy halted investigations at this point.

A uniformed police officer, queried at Peachtree and Houson, averred he could give no information. Didn't know why the robed figures were standing around. Said, as far as he knew, there was no law against it.

(By the way, wouldn't a city orlinance or state law or something prohibiting anyone from appearing on the streets masked or in dis-guise be a good thing? We could nake special provision for Haloween, if that is necessary.)

Anyway, I wonder what these gooded morons were doing on Peachtree on Monday night. Or, rather, what they thought they were doing. I know one thing they were do-

The subject warms up old memories of Floyd Gibbons, who always gave an impression that, so far as the auditor was concerned, he knew where the body was buried, Actually didn't go around giving public readings of his expense accounts as inspiration for his colleagues, but from the time that he replaced his wardrobe and baggage which had een lost in the Laconia by shop ping exclusively in Bond street, London, he was held in awe by his ellow journalists.

There are some individuals-or there were some, anyway, until a few years ago—who always seemed to have permission to spend at their own discretion, and when Mr. Gibbons that time paid $150 just for a suitcase alone to replace the one which had gone down off the coast of Ireland the rest of the little community of inkstained wretches in London sort of roped him off in a class by himself.

Very likely he would prove to have been the all-time champion of the world if his old statements could be dusted off, for he one rossed the Sahara at the head of is own caravan with only conscience for his guide. That was in opportunity the like of which befell no other man. Some of his contemporaries while on the march league wars had had very valuable thoroughbred horses shot out from under them in poker games, but Floyd's caravan was motorized.

They say the boss wears these Eskimo costumes, plug hats and all, to masquerades.

There was one individual with the A. E. F. who was humiliated deeply by the disallowance of an item of $10 for a pair of binoculars. The auditor did not blink at $25 as this correspondent's share of a banquet for General Bullard for General Pershing, who, naturally, required more elegant fare. But he had been passing on expense accounts of correspondents around the world for years, and he insisted that binoculars could not be had for less than $40.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

IN CARROLLTON Probably the most significant unit of the state university system is the one at Carrollton, the West Georgia College. It is significant because it has been supplied with money by the Rosenwald fund enabling it to carry on a program of training teachers specifically for rural schools.

Included in this program is one for the training of negro teachers. This emphasizes the significance of the project.

Georgia is not an urban state. Georgia will never be an urban state. It is an agricultural commonwealth. In the past our teachers have been trained in one uniform pattern which fitted them, theo-

Obviously this was not true. The same training did not fit one to teach in a rural school and a city one. There is a very great difference. We have learned that the teacher must be much more some overseer who gives out assignments, hears recitations and dispenses grades.

A teacher with an understanding of the rural background, one able to learn something of the family problems and environment of the students, would make a much more valuable teacher. A teacher trained to organize rural communities would be able to bring life and entertainment to a community and make it a force in the lives of its residents. The project has been in force for two years. Results already are to be seen. It should grow into one of the great stimulations of improvement in Georgia. The state could not have done it. The Rosenwald fund, dedicated to education, is making it possible. No unit of the state university system is as significant as this one at

THE PART FOR NEGROES The project is for white and negro teachers. This adds to the significance of the work. No one yet successfully has disputed the statement by Booker T. Washington that those who hold back the negro forget they must remain with him if they do the holding.

Georgia has not held back the negro through choice. Georgia is, relatively speaking, a poor state. It has not had much money for education. It has spent less on negro education than is pleasant to know. There is no real justification of it.

This program which provides money to train rural teachers for negro farm children will be of unusual value. Education is not a panacea for all our ills but it comes closer to being one than anything else. The negro makes up a large part of our rural population. Education for him too long has been neglected. Now the Rosenwald Fund makes it possible for this one school to begin training teachers. It would be interesting to know how many people have noticed the gradual change, unfortunately long in arriving, in our educa-tional processes. The change is toward a practical education and training for the masses of people.

Some day we will have schools which will teach high school girls in our negro schools how to be good nurses, cooks and domestic aids. With that will come an increase in wage standards.

It is possible to grow optimistic over small things. The main that the start is being made. Carrollton has the honor of being the focal city for the start. I can think of no man better fitted for the job than Professor

I. S. Ingram of the West Georgia College.

AN INTERESTING CITY Carrollton is an interesting city. It had electric lights before Atlanta knew them. The county of Carroll gave us the one-man county commission, an idea which slowly but surely is spreading to other counties. It has two fine weekly papers, The Free Press and Bob O'Kelley, of The Free Press, won a state award for a splendid editorial.

I saw Editor J. J. Thomasson, of The Times. He is the oldest editor in the state. He looks 65 and I hardly could believe he was 89, pushing on close to his 90th birthday. He has been an editor for 54 years. He remembers the founders of the county. His grandmother, who died after his birth, was born well before the American Revolution. The Thomasson's have long lives.

"I had an aunt," he said, "who lived to be well over 90. She used to say that when Gabriel blew his trumpet he would have to hit her in the head."

Editor Thomasson said: "There was an edition of The Times printed on paper made from slash pine before the late Dr. Herty was out of diapers. The editor of the paper went down to the mill not far from Carrollton, cut down the tree, stayed for the paper to be made, carried it back and printed his edition on it." It was stimulating to meet the students at West Georgia College. College students of today are the most intelligent ones we've ever They ought to be, having more opportunity. They are going to produce some real results, given a chance. The schools will be salvation or the ruin of our American way.

They will not ruin it unless the political leaders of the state permit the schools to be wrecked by lack of funds.

The House Isn't Saved If Protected Against Fire and Delivered To Termites

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

From Maine to Texas and from Florida to Washington, the land is full of patriots. Being patriots doesn't make them quarrelsome, and they prefer to live in peace and work at their jobs, but all of them say in complete sincerity: "I would fight to save America." They mean every word of it, but they are not referring to a particular danger but only expressing a sentiment.

Would you fight to save America? From what? When the men from Mars landed, via young Wells and the radio, it appeared that nothing could stand against them and all who got their way met sudden and awful death. Yet brave and simple souls near and far, telephoned to ask where they should report

When the danger is awful and immediate, our people, as Bryan was so fond of reminding them, will leap to arms. But if the danger isn't noisy or exciting, we are like the proverbial Arab whose camel asked permission to place its head inside the tent out of the weather. When this much was granted, you will remember, the camel asked for more, which was harder to refuse since a little had been granted, and this process continued until the camel was wholly inside the tent and the Arab outside. Hitler advocated and later used the same method in dealing with

You think you would fight to save America, but from what would you save it? From an invader only, or from spoliation or

Our best timber is gone, and what remains is being cut much faster than nature is replacing it. What are you doing about that?
Our store of petroleum, a million years in the making and never to be replaced, is being wasted in reckless greed, and few, if any, are trying to save it. Are you?

Our slopes have been stripped of vegetation, so the rain runs off in torrents, carrying away the life of the soil, flooding the valleys, and lowering the permanent level of underground water so that fertile regions are made barren. Are you doing anything about it?
Our streams are being turned into sewers by manufacturing plants; our water fowl are being slaughtered by market hunters. Oh, there are scores of attacks on America, bold and sly, persistent and deadly. And though we still hold out, the end is only a matter

We'll fight to save America, but only if the enemy carries guns and marches in column of fours.

Mails to and from Europe are long delayed. On all the sea lanes which lead to Britain and France the submarine threat leads ships to call for cruiser and then destroyer escort.

What of the listening device? Its object is to detect a submarine's proximity. Then the de-stroyers pursue and drop their depth charges. But the device is of little use unless it locates the submarine within three or four miles of the destroyer. Germans Believed To Have Launched

New Mass Production Plan

Anyone with sufficient under-standing of all the complicated mechanism crowded into the small space of thin steel shell of a German U-boat will be most welcome at the British admiralty. He may have invaluable secrets to reveal. From the little information available, apparently Germany swift mass production to replace is designing pattern boats for wastage and increase her present number of 70. Nomally, a submarine takes a year or more to build. But, under this system—the same as our own for automobiles, which set the example for the worldwith her intensive militarized labor, she might build one in six months.

None Under Age.

She has no under-age U-boats.

Having started from scratch, the new ones include all the improvements, which are the more significant if the listening device has not kept pace with them. These include better engines, more speed, better mobility in maneuver, and two other important items. One is the electric propelling power for the torpedo, which does not make a soap-bubble warning wake, outlining its progress toward target But the greatest advance is in the gyroscopic direction of the torpedo. Formerly, before firing her torpedo, a submarine had to point her bow toward a ship, as a gun is pointed at the target. This took time and gave the ship time to get past. Now, the submarine may fire the torpedo when run-saw the frost everywhere-on the little patch of late beans that were just forming reds—on the broad, tender petals of the tropi-cal water lilies—on the canna leaves—on many flowering plants that had held forth to the very last day, and I stood there griefstricken for a moment, knowing that within a few minutes the rising sun would be upon them, and they would gasp under the stinging darts of death. Grateful for all the beauty they had brought through the long summer, I turned from the scene, remembering that such is the way of all the earth. But just beyond the flowers and pumpkins, and they seemed to be enjoying the bath of frost, and the shocks of corn did not mind it, nor the fresh turned earth in which was planted the winter cover crop. It was time for frost e grand season of the year when life takes on a faster pace and the year. I fancy that people enjoy eating at this season of the year almost more than any other season. And there are so many season. And there are so many good things to eat—turnips, and collards, and pumpkins, and apples, and new corn bread, and new syrup to go with the bread. It will not be long till we can have cracklin' bread!

And this is the time for those grand course that we never think of when the weather is hot-steaming bowls of it! And what about oatmeal for breakfast? And coffee fills all the house with its aroma, and ginger bread with Monday morning early, when I lemon sauce takes its place again went down to feed the chickens.

Whatever the meal may be, it is the season when one likes to have a second passing of gravy—rich brown gravy from a roast, red gravy from a country ham, yellow gravy from a big, fat hen with plenteous bits of boiled egg floating around. There's no telling how many biscuits a fellow can eat these chilly mornings if the gravy will just hold out!

Well may we give thanks that we live in a land where we can face an autumn with grateful thoughts of good things to eat rather than dreading the destruction of barns and smokehouses and stores and homes by bombs. Let us pray that our land may be spared from war, remembering the while our neighbors who suffer these cold nights from its horrors.

JOBLESS WORKERS DEMAND SPEED-UP IN WPA RELISTING

600 Unemployed Back Workers' Alliance Man in Demonstration; More Local Projects Urged.

Six hundred unemployed, most of them Workers Alliance members and former WPA workers laid off under the 18-months-law, crowded the hallways and stairs leading to the Works Progress Administration offices in the 10 Forsyth Street building yesterday seeking immediate recertification for relief jobs.

The crowd dispersed after sev-eral hours when WPA officials agreed to a conference with a committee of nine workers headed by John L. Donovan, national representative of the alliance, and after assurances were given that the case of each worker would be taken up individually as quickly as possible at the reemployment of-fice at 142 Marietta street.

S. Scherffius, director of the WPA division of employment, and the workers committee, were closeted several hours vesterday afternoon going into detailed discussion of the grievances.

Demands on WPA.

In general the demands of the unemployed WPA workers were, according to Donovan:

1. To request speeding up of racertification of WPA workers who were required to take a one-month furlough because of 18 months' continuous WPA employment. (He said the recertification was two months in arrears.)

2. That the number employed on the WPA sewing projects be immediately doubled because money is available for this work.

3. To insist that the city, county and state authorities reach an agreement with the WPA for instituting more construction projects in the Atlanta area and thus prevent WPA employment from van-DeKalb counties.

Job Promise Lures Crowd. Donovan blamed the United States congress for cutting WPA appropriations and said he and his group understood the officials here could do no more than follow their instructions. The crowd, most of them negroes, said they were told they could get jobs by coming to the offices vesterday.

Scherffius admitted the need of more funds and said the state administrator, Miss Gay B. Shepperson, only last week was in Wash-Ington attempting to get more funds with which to create more jobs in this area. He explained officers.

Moulton warned industrialists ployes with more than 18 months' continuous employment had to be given a month's furlough by September 1. This was done, he said. to give jobs to others who had been on the waiting lists.

At the end of 30 days, those laid off were eligible for recertification but cannot be put to work until there are openings. Another purpose of the layoff was to give

The biggest contradiction of modern football-with its up impressive scores today in the hipper-dipper pass plays, hidden ball tricks, forward laterals, ing after he was a comparative opening cast of the Georgia fox and all that sort of thing—is the Tulane Green Wave.

Credit Red Dawson, who in his time was one of the best Secretary Ralph Cornwell, of of southern quarterbacks, with making quite an improvement Monticello, announced leaders in on the edict once delivered by a stout-hearted guy, guarding a the derby and all-age races and bridge. Horatio—no relation to Alger—declared, "They shall not pass.

Red Dawson has improved on the edict in a doublehanded fashion. He means that they (Tulane) and the opposition, too, shall not pass. And he has been very successful so far.

It is a most amazing thing that Tulane has only used one forward pass this season for touchdown purposes. The Green Wave defeated Fordham without resorting to

And so the only conclusion to be drawn is that Tulane has power personified. You see, Tulane gained 300 yards running against a Fordham team that undoubtedly has a stout defense.

Tulane used no magic. The Green Wave made no effort to open up the defense by resorting to passes. The Wave simply rammed the ball down the Fordham Ram's throat. One short lateral was used in the touchdown drive. As said, no forward passes were tried.

This sort of thing must have the scouts in a dither. Tulane can pass. They worked on pass plays in the spring and early fall.

But no one knows anything about their pass plays. They are being held in reserve. They may be stored up for Alabama. Who knows?

At any rate, a team that has enough power to bat down the circuit. The tall Cincinnati Reds' righthander polled 303 of a possible total of 336 points. He At any rate, a team that has enough power to bat down certainly commands respect.

Dawson simply says, "Why pass when you can win without it?" There's no argument against this.

Still, North Carolina, Ole Miss, Alabama, Columbia and S. U. must wonder about the passes. Because everybody else does. Tulane is the enigma of the football world. With all the power, plus some passing, it is suspected the Wave might games—more than any other ma-nile on through its terrific schedule unheaten.

> The Vandy defense has been the weak point. No team can be classed as a bad team which Saturday after Saturday consistently scores as many as 13 points.

Tech's defense against passes has not been thoroughly tested. A Notre Dame touchdown was the result of one pass. It wasn't a scoring pass, but it paved the way. Coach Alex thought if Notre Dame had passed more, the lackets might have been sorely put to hold them.

And there is no question about Vandy throwing passes with back converted into a quarterback this year by Coach R. C. Robinson, getting most of their points.

The game may turn into a free-scoring affair. And the Tech pass defense will get the supreme test. By the same token, Vandy will have to stop the Tech passes.

From the spectator standpoint, the game should be highly nteresting. Because two spectacular offenses will be at work. And Tech, of course, is no heavy favorite to win—despite Vandy's record.

SCRAPPY MOORE LIKES TENNESSEE.

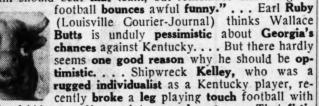

After Tennessee romped over Chattanooga, 28 to 0, last Saturday, Coach Scrappy Moore said, "Alabama is going to have to be awful good to beat those fellows.

"I haven't seen Alabama," continued the Moccasins coach, "but from the looks of those Vols, the Crimson Tide is going to have a real tough time."

The Vol defense was very impressive. Chattanooga had a net gain of only 12 yards rushing and made one first down by virtue of a penalty. The Vol defense, which wasn't pushed, gained a total of 300 yards rushing.

Alabama has a fine sophomore back in Jimmy Nelson. But bservers declare that the Vols' Johnny Butler, Cafego's understudy, is as good as they come.

Oklahoma's upsetting Sooners, once-tied but winners over Northwestern and Texas, came in third, with ten first-place nominations and 607 points. The south then was heard from with Tulane holding fourth with 560 points and Tennessee, tabbed as the preseason standout by many, fifth with 556. Tennessee, incidentally, drew more first-place picks than any other outfit—26½, one and a half more than Pittsburgh. The

and the independence of each."

The White House released the text of both messages, transmitted through Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt.

Guarantee Recalled.
President Kalinin recalled that the independence of the Finnish republic "was recognized by the free will of the Soviet government on December 31, 1917," and the sovereignty of Finland was guaranteed by the peace treaty of October 14, 1920, between the two

"By the above-mentioned acts of the Soviet government, the basic principles of the reciprocal relations between the Soviet Union and Finland were defined," he "The present negotiations between the Soviet government and the government of Finland are also being conducted in conformity with these principles.

Officials said tonight they preferred not to comment on Presi-Would Bar Naval Bases.

If Soviet Russia is to conform to the emphasis given by President Kalinin to the independence of Finland, it was said, she could not demand essential naval bases in Finland which would impair that independence.

Mr. Roosevelt said in his message to President Kalinin: "While the United States is tak-ing no part in existing controversies in Europe, the President wishes to call attention to the longstanding and deep friendship which exists between the United States and Finland.

"He feels that he can call this to the attention of President Kalinin because of their joint efforts a number of years ago which resulted in the resumption of friendly ion and the United States."

Continuing their raids on British ships, big German planes yesterday damaged Brit-ain's naval training ship Iron Duke in an attack at Scapa Flow, where Germany scuttled her fleet after the World War. Among those previously reported damaged are the battle cruiser Repulse, shown in foreground, and H. M. S. Hood, in background. The German supreme army command asserted Monday that the same submarine which sank the Royal Oak had also hit the Repulse and put her out of commission. The German admiralty has been hinting, too, that the Hood has been badly damaged by German planes.

Germany's Reply.

The German press reflected of-ficial views that the lightning campaign against the British fleet was Germany's reply to the re-fusal of the Allies to make peace on Adolf Hitler's terms.

(Britain denied the Repulse had been hit and said the Royal Oak was sent to the bottom early Saturday morning after torpedoes were fired at her in rapid succession. Loss of life was placed at 786.)

Prien said he torpedoed the British ships at night and expressed wonderment that his slim under sea craft was able to pass British submarine traps unmolested.

He asserted he was already outside the mine fields, his work done, when British started throwing spotlights around the bay to find him.

"I also had to think about get-ting out, for neither I nor any of my crew wanted to spend time as war prisoner," Prien said. Germans found further cause for rejoicing in a high command an-nouncement that "five enemy planes, among which were two British," had been shot down and that French troops had withdrawn from the "greatest part of German territory" on the western front.

Officials declared the French withdrawal meant little in a military sense since they had occupied only small areas between the German Siegfried and French Maginot fortifications.

Mr. Szolcman is in Budapest, where he is looking after interests that will aid England and France in their efforts to win the war against Germany. He sent his wife to the United States to escape the awful circumstances and privations which always travel hand-in-hand with war.

He met his lovely dark-haired and dark-eyed wife when they crossed the Atlantic ocean on the same liner many years ago. Mrs. Flynn Weds Frank McDevitt In Media, Pa.

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 17.-The marriage of Mrs. Clarkie Perry Flynn, of Media, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., to Frank McDevitt, of Drexel Hills, Pa., was quietly solemnized on October 12 at the Church of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin

There were no attendants at the ceremony. The bride chose for her marriage a modish costume of brown crepe which she wore with a brown hat trimmed in a breif veil, and a shoulder cluster of bronze orchids.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cloran, cousins of the bride, entertained at a wedding breakfast at their home in Media. Mr. McDevitt and his bride are honeymooning at the groom's summer home in Wildwood, N. J., after which they will reside in Drexel Hills.

Mrs. McDevitt, who is the widow of the late William J. Flynn, of Atlanta has made her home home.

Atlanta, has made her home here with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Cloran, for the past two years, and has won many friends by her charming southern manner. She is the sister of Mrs. S. A. Book-hammer, of Atlanta.

Mr. DcDevitt is a prominent businessman of this section and a member of the Drexel Hills Club.

Should Return Ring

By Caroline Chatfield. DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

Don't try to comfort me by telling me it's puppy love. I'm 21 and I know better. The girl I love is a little bit older than I and has a motherly way with me that I can't stand. I've been out of work off and on for a year and she is always offering to lend me money which I have never taken and never will. But on top of this bad luck she keeps a ring that another guy gave her and while she tells me she's going to give it back to him she still has it. I can't give her a ring and the whole thing has me so worried I don't know what to do.

ANSWER: My dear boy, I contend that puppy love is just as real as mature love. But this I must tell you; in spite of the fact you have reached your majority you aren't grown up. If you were you would be working instead of worrying, making plans to buy a ring instead of trying to persuade your girl to return the one she has.

Most girls pursue the-bird-inthe-hand-worth-two-in- the - bush policy where beaux are concerned. And you can't blame them. They must look out for the long future and in doing this they have learned that it is sometimes just as easy to love a guy who can say his love with a ring as it is to love one who says it with a sigh; just as easy and far more practical.

Now take a leaf from the feminine book of love and be CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: Two years ago I married a girl who knew that I was just getting started and had only a small amount to live on. She said she could take it but when there wasn't any money left to buy a roast for the week-end and we could barely buy cheap vegetables she packed up and went home. She writes that she still loves me and wants to come back when I can feed her as well as her father does but I needn't send for her until I am making more. What do you think of our case?

HERBERT. If your wife had had any in-testinal fortitude, any love for anybody but herself, she would never have run out on you. Either she would have learned to manage the money in such a way that it would have lasted through the week or she would have eaten beans and potatoes with you every Sunday and said Grace over them.

Boy Thinks Girl MY DAY Elders Need Caution In Interpreting Youth

for these few days in the country. I took another ride this morning through the lower wood. The air had just enough chill in it to make the horses want to go, so I enjoyed every minute of it. I lunched at Vassar Alumni House and took with me Mrs. Elizabeth Von Hesse, who has had no opportunity to give me a voice lesson for nearly five months and never before heard me speak in public. I asked her to concentrate on all my failings in order to help me improve.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau met us at the lunch-eon and we found a great many Poughkeepsie friends, as well as women of other sections of the county and from across the river. This lunch was the interlude in a day's conference. This nonpartisan institute was run under the auspices of the Democratic county committee to study the various social

I did not attend the morning session, but I understand the National Youth Administration work in this district was well described and that Vassar College was called upon to produce an expert on taxes. Mrs. Saltford, the Republican county vice chairman, remarked in her few words of greeting in the afternoon, that she realized with a shock how we were always asking our representative to cut down on taxes and at the same time insisting that they do numberless things which required more tax money. She added that she wished all young people could have the benefits of the NYA and CCC camps when they were out of school and without jobs. I think we should all study our government setups with a view to cutting down the cost of administration in the hope of carrying on work which we all want done.

After lunch, Dean Thompson, of Vassar, spoke on a general subject and then Mrs. Anna Rosenberg told of the amendments to the social security law. My subject was to deal with youth in general in this country, particularly with what youth is doing in an organized way. It always seems to me dangerous for an older person to try to interpret what youth may think or feel on any subject, but I find myself having to do this frequently. I always do it with a prayer that I am not misrepresenting youth or leaving out something which would be vital to it.

On our way out, a Frenchwoman spoke to me, saying that she had been in Germany during the rise of the youth movement there and it had given her a fear of all organized youth. She did not fear Fascism among our youth, but she did fear Communism. Of course, it is easy to understand this fear in France, where their reforms were so long delayed that the Communist party became strong. Undoubtedly this has had a great effect upon the youth of the country, but I do not feel that we are in the same general situation. I can only say that I trust our young people whom I have come to know well and believe they are working for the

Protective Foods Are Essential In Diet

By Ida Jean Kain.

Well, the worst has happened! One of my reducers is losing her teeth! And all her "I told you so" friends assure her it's the diet my diet, they mean.

Everything else is fine. She has

heen losing weight right along— 27 pounds in four months, which is a satisfying but safe rate—and she has slimmed down from a size

But, for the first time in her life, she is developing tooth cavities and she writes to ask if it could be a coincidence. Probably not! She has been on a diet of 900 calories a day and on this restricted diet, she goes on to say, "I ate corn, ice cream, etc., though sparingly, as they count up so quickly. Nevertheless, I did not miss any good food."

It is impossible to be on a 900 calorie balanced diet and not miss any good food. If the good foods are included you are fairly certain to miss some of the protective elements. Both cannot be included on that few calories.

Since this reducer drank buttermilk every day and had cheese several times a week, we know that her diet was not deficient in daily fare, the element most likely to have been missing is Vitamin C—and that for several months. Now, unless you get sufficient Vitamin C you do not efficiently utilize your calcium. This deficiency would account for dental troubles.

Vitamin D also plays an important part in the utilization of calcium but since she reduced during the summer and spent some time out of doors every day, it is assumed that she got enough Vitamin D.

I am telling you of this reducer's experience so that you will be careful not to unbalance your balanced diet. It is not easy to include all the protective elements on a 1,000 calorie diet. Whenever you leave something out so that you can have your favorite dish, you run the risk of robbing your body of some essential element. You might imagine that an excess of adipose tissue means your body is superabundantly supplied with all the elements essential to your health. That is not true. If you do not remember anything ance, thought there was a shortage of men in Hollywood...

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, middling 9.26. AVERAGE PRICE. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17 .- (AP) The average price of middling cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was eight points higher at 9.06 cents a pound. The average price for the past 30 market days was 9.06 cents. NEW YORK, Oct. 17 - (A)-The apparent determination of the beligerent nations to get down to brass tacks in their fighting spurred renewed interest in cotton fu-

Broad outside buying, plus demand from trade and mill ac-counts, lifted the market to final gains of 8 to 14 points. Nonetheless, chief market interest centered on the October delivery, which went off the board at noon at a decline of 4 points. Despite liquidation of about 21,-000 bales, the spot month held firm throughout the morning, going to 9.27. On the sale of only 400 bales at the close, however, it dropped 11 points from the previous trade.

Fast buying of stocks and most other commodities exerted considerable influence on cotton. one time, in fact, quotations were 11 to 18 points higher, but lastminute profit-taking chipped away the peaks.

Offerings were supplied by hedging sales and New Orleans and Bombay offerings. Worth Street reported a routine business in textiles at steady prices.

Exports today 71,179 bales; season so far 1,289,556. Port receipts 47,645; port stocks 2,793,668. COTTON ENDS STEADY

IN NEW ORLEANS NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17 .- (AP) Increased export and prompt stoppage of October notices attracted buying in cotton futures here to-Closing prices were steady, 9 to 17 points net higher.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- (AP)-A fresh burst of war-buying hit the stock market today and leading issues were lifted 1 to more than 5 points, many to new highs for the year or longer.

Steels and aircrafts touched off the advance, with rails, mail orders, coppers, rubbers, motors, oils and a wide variety of specialties participating. Intensification of the European conflict, stressed by German air raids on Scotland and the British naval base at Scapa Flow, brokers said, helped revive the recently lagging trading spirit.

Money Market.

NEW YORK. Oct. 17.—The foreign exchange market today stopped the violent rocking which characterized Saturday's and Monday's sessions and kept price changes within fractional limits.

Some money analysts suggested traders might be weighing possible effects on long-time currency policies of the intensification of hositilities.

Sterling dipped ¼ cent in relation to the dollar and the French franc .01 of a cent. The beiga moved up .05 of a cent and the guilder .01 of a cent. The Swiss franc was unchanged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- (AP)-Bonds advanced sharply today in sympathy with a renewal of war buying in the stock list.

Speculative loans were prominent, particularly the rails, their climbing power matching that shown during the excited war markets of last September.

Equally noteworthy was a buoyant rise in United States government issues which ignored new German air raids over land and other indications the war was on in earnest and scored one of the best advances of the October recovery.

Treasuries averaged substantial fractional gains and some rose a full point or more. Particularly prominent was the Treasury issue of 3 3-4s of 1956-46 with net rise of 1 23-32ds points.

LEGACY OF LOVE

Roger Takes Rita to Lunch After She Mails Cigarette Case

BY KATHRN BEMIS.

By KATHRN BEMIS.

SYNOPSIS.

Rita Rhodes, heir to a large fortune when she is 25 or sooner if she marries, wonders what is wrong with her as she and Preston Meeker sit in masquerade costume in a lantern-lighted Pasadena garden. She is pretty, she knows, but he is the third man to ask her to break their engagement. She wishes her mother Delores were with instead of in Paris; she hates to face the detested Wilmot Green, Delores fourth husband, with the news. When Preston leaves her a man in a clown's costume parts the shrubbery behind her and says, "It's a darn shame! I'm at your service and you're going to see a lot of me. "Green, 15 years Delores' junior, receives her cable that she is divorcing him and leaves at once. Rita recognizes the voice of Stanton, the new chauffeur as that of the clown, and asks him to explain. He says he loves her but can't explain yet and she is happy when he kisses her. When he says he can't marry her now, she remembers Meeker and the others and is distant but is inconsolable when he quits to sell automobiles. Green commits sulcide, confessing he lost Rita's entire fortune in Wall street, Roger Brewster's mother asks Rita to become her social secretary, and Roger introduces her to Tom Cleveland, whose grandfather left millions. He is Stanton. It is evident that Eva Sheen is stalking Tom who asks Rita to wait until he can explain. As Rita walks on the beach with his cousin Terry they find a man shot to death. On the scene Rita finds a cigaret case bearing Tom's initials. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

MEN

WE don't care what your past work or earnings have been, we are not worried about your education, your religion or your nationality.

WE are interested in how ambitious you are and how willing you are to work, and study to qualify for the kind of monthly earnings being made by men already connected with this business.

YOU may be employed now, but starving for lack of opportunity. You may be out of work and in need of employment. However, if you have been out of a job over six months, we doubt if you are the kind of a man who could hold down the place we have to offer.

IT will cost you nothing to investigate this ad.. we cannot tell whether you could qualify in our line, which is outstanding in its field unless we can talk with you. Come in for a preliminary interview, if you can get along on approximately $30 or $40 per week for first two months while learning. Electrolux Corporation, 205-7 Glenn Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday between 10 and 12 noon or 2 p. m. sharp. We have several openings in Athens. Gainesville, Marietta, Rome, Calhoun, Newnan, Toccoa.
